2nd Edition of meetMED Week in Marrakech May 9th-11th, 2023

Venue: The Radisson Blu Marrakech

With the objective of contributing to energy and climate transition in Southern Neighbourhood, through a multiscale, multiparter, inclusive approach, meetMED II activities aim at developing a more stable, efficient, competitive and climate-resilient socio-economic environment in Southern Mediterranean Countries, by fostering regional cooperation for energy efficiency measures and implementing demo actions.

High-level events called the meetMED weeks, will take place once a year for three years in different countries. The main goals are:

- To mobilize and engage national stakeholders, local authorities, private sector operators, civil society, and population, at regional and local level,
- To disseminate good practices in building and appliances' sectors,
- To facilitate the development and replication of energy efficiency measures,
- and to increase public awareness and investments in these sectors.

meetMED week will become a Flagship event for the Mediterranean area as a whole: an ideal place for a high-level policy dialogue where policymakers and the most relevant stakeholders will convene to exchange experiences and discuss the next steps for the decarbonization of the Region. Events will focus on:

- First meetMED week (28-31 March 2022): it will be a hybrid event, promoting the commitment of national stakeholders and authorities to the objectives of the meetMED II project.
- Second meetMED week (9-11 May 2023): developing demo actions and policy reviews, recommendations on harmonization and enforcement.
- Third meetMED week (March 2024): delivering final reports and outputs of the project.

During the meetMED week the ad-hoc task forces focused on financial instruments, on energy efficiency policies and measures for buildings and appliances, and on the monitoring of energy efficiency indicators will have their own dedicated sessions. These task forces will be engaged over the whole project period, providing the means for an increased dialogue, dissemination of the results, and spread of good practices among countries.
